About CORHIO

- CORHIO is a nonprofit, public-private partnership that is improving health care for all Coloradans through health information technology and the implementation of electronic health information exchange (HIE).
- CORHIO manages and maintains the technology infrastructure that supports secure, efficient clinical information sharing among health care providers across Colorado.

Improving Health Care Quality

- HIE improves health care providers' ability to administer timely and effective patient care with more accurate, up-to-date patient information at the point-of-care
- HIE saves lives in emergency situations, giving medical professionals information they need at their fingertips

Reducing Costs

- HIE reduces the number of duplicate tests performed on patients, lowering costs and improving patient satisfaction
- For providers, HIE reduces administrative costs including those associated with printing, faxing, mailing and overall management of patient medical records
